

Protecting Lives, Saving Futures
February 23-25, 2011
Columbia, MO

The Missouri Office of Prosecution Services announces a training opportunity for
Missouri prosecutors and law enforcement officers

Protecting Lives, Saving Futures is a course designed to teach law enforcement officers and prosecutors the basics of standardized field sobriety testing, report writing and courtroom preparation and testimony in impaired driving cases.

This is a multi-disciplinary curriculum that allows prosecutors and law enforcement officers to learn firsthand the challenges and difficulties each faces in impaired driving cases. It focuses on teamwork and cooperation in the investigation and prosecution of DWI cases.

This is a basic-level course designed for prosecutors and law enforcement officers with limited experience in the detection, apprehension and prosecution of impaired drivers. Law enforcement officers attending the course should have completed basic SFST training.

The course will qualify for both Missouri CLE and POST credit.

There is no registration fee for this course. Lodging and breakfast and lunch each day will be provided to all students. Participating jurisdictions will need to cover the cost of travel to and from Columbia, evening meals, and any other related expenses.

Space in this course is limited. For that reason, applications must be submitted. Although not required, preference will be given to applications submitted jointly by a law enforcement officer and prosecutor from the same county. Applications will not be accepted from anyone who has previously attended this course.

An application form is attached. Individuals whose applications are accepted will be notified and provided further information. Please contact Susan Glass at 573-751-1629 or at Susan.Glass@ago.mo.gov with questions

Funding for this course is provided by the Missouri Division of Highway Safety
